Local News Briefs

NORTH POLE - Santa Claus confirmed Dec. 19 that he'll be in Drayton Valley Christmas Eve to distribute presents.

"Oh, you tell those children not to worry," he said. "The reindeer are ready and raring to go."

Claus said the reindeer always look forward to the area because of the friendly wildlife.

"Some of the deer around Drayton join in and escort my team (Dasher, Dancer, et al.) through the region," he said.

Claus stressed that all Drayton Valley and area children be in bed by midnight so his trip isn't delayed.

Every year, he said, a few children stay awake and he's forced to double back.

"Oh, but I don't expect too many problems this year. Rudolf's nose is all polished up in case of a blizzard, the elves have most of the presents packed in the sleigh and momma's been fattening me up so I'll stay nice and warm," he said.

NASA has approached Santa Claus asking for his secret method of transportation. One of the head colonels at the base was hoping to incorporate his secret into space travel. However, Claus refused to divulge the information.

'Christmas brings joy to my life' - Santa

By Belinda Atkinson

North Pole - Santa Claus isn't happy with the current state of Christmas, he said in an exclusive interview last Monday.

"I wish we could go back to hand-made toys and useful items," he said from his home at the North Pole.

When asked if Christmas will ever go back to a simple gathering of family and friends, he said, "Never. It's too commercialized.

But the white-haired gentleman said he sees hope in young children and love in mothers.

"Christmas is really for mothers, you know," he said. "The kids are happy to get toys but it's the moms who get the biggest kick out of seeing their children's faces."

However, he has seen the magic of the spirit of Christmas in some extraordinary children.

"I remember I was at a Christmas party once and all the children were running up to tell me what they wanted.

"One girl was bashful and wouldn't come forward until I coaxed her," he said.

"I asked her what she wanted for Christmas and she said, 'I want everyone in the world to be happy.' "

"Well, what do you say to a child like that? I was dumbfounded," he said.

"It was the nicest gift I've ever had to hear that child say that," he said somewhat tearful.

Claus said he's encountered numerous such instances over the years and always feels re-awakened to the love that is still capable in the world.

"If they go through life with that attitude that would be nice," he said.

Claus has also seen unselfish giving in his community.

"I went to get a new belt made," he said, holding up a thick, black-leather belt. "You just can't buy belts like that.

"When I went to pay (the seamstress) she wouldn't accept any money. I don't like to accept charity but she insisted," he said.

"She said, 'You do so much, can't I just help a little bit?' "

Claus couldn't deny her the spirit of giving that has been his sole source of inspiration for "too many years to count."

"One person doing for another can change a lot of people," he said.

Claus couldn't say what exactly motivates him to drive all night every year, racing to reach every house before dawn.

"Maybe I'm just doing it for my own satisfaction," he pondered. "I benefit because I enjoy it. It brings a little joy into my life."

He paused for a moment, took off his glasses and sighed.

"There are things that I'm maybe not proud of or things that I should have done but didn't," he tried to find a reason. "But it does bring me a lot of joy."

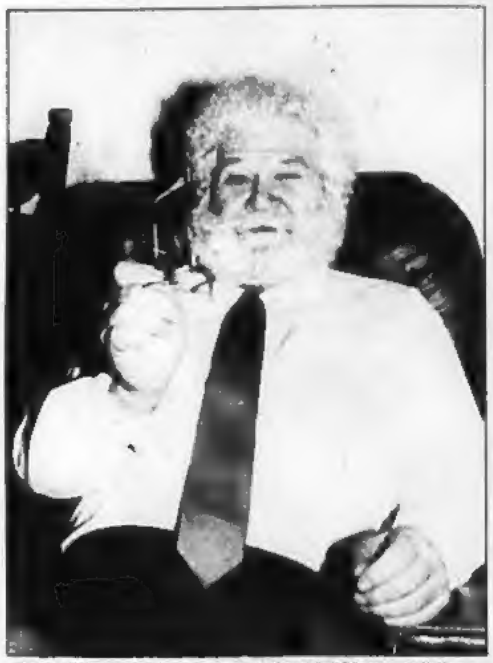
Claus refused to disclose how he manages to reach every house in a single night, or how he knows what children want.

"It's just part of the magic of Christmas," he said.

"It's funny how children accept magic for what it is but as soon as they've grown...well, the belief gets lost somehow."

Claus did say, though, that he receives letters from hundreds of adults who've never lost their sense of magic.

"They're the lucky ones and maybe, with time and love, they'll convince more people that the spirit, wonder and excitement don't have to leave a person when he or she becomes an adult."



Santa Claus winked his eye and said, "Oh you tell those children not to worry. The reindeer are raring to go.

Reporter braves cruel elements for exclusive interview

By Steve Fletcher

Reporter Belinda Atkinson risked life and limb travelling across treacherous Arctic terrain last week.

But her blizzard-plagued pilgrimage to the North Pole paid off with one giant reward: An exclusive interview with St. Nicholas and a tour of his massive toy-producing factories.

Reporter Belinda Atkinson and her faithful companion, Siber the Sled Dog, make their way to the top of the world.

Sipping egg nog with the fabled saint in front of a crackling fireplace was a "dream come true," says Atkinson.

She spent one day at his centuries-old northern dwelling, but left with enough memories to last a 1,000 Christmases.

Acknowledging that her glimpse into the little-known private life of Santa was exceptional for an outsider, Aktinson says the Clauses were the consummate hosts.

"I wasn't even in the door and Mrs. Claus was offering hot chocolate," she points out.

Their house was spacious - but not garish - with an acute, ever-present scent of shortbread hanging in the air, says Atkinson.

She adds that Santa himself was a "jelly old man" with red cheeks and a stomach that jiggled like a bowl full of jelly.

"He was cordial. Very friendly...he's a grandfatherly man but a child at heart."

Atkinson was also impressed with the work ethics of the elves.

Although they toiled along assembly lines in huge factories, the elves "constantly sang Christmas carols - and very harmoniously, too," says the reporter.

Although the trek to the pole was full of problems, including bothersome polar bears, blinding snowstorms and uncontrollable sled dogs, Atkinson maintains the trip was her "biggest and best assignment ever."

She says she's already busily preparing for her next adventure: A search for the elusive Easter Bunny.

Christmas lights, cash registers sign of the times

If you're having trouble getting into the Christmas spirit...tour the town and view all the lights.

Or, fight the crowds in our local stores.

It seems since the chamber of commerce introduced their Christmas light-up contest four years ago, that local residents have been putting up lights and lawn displays at a rapid pace.

There was a time when residents could get out see all the lights in an hour. Now, it takes two or three hours.

This year we're seeing a new and interesting twist.

Residents along 43 St., across from the Frank Maddock high school have constructed Snowman Lane, while home owners on 49B St. have their own version of Candy Cane Lane.

From what we've already seen residents are not just touring the lights and looking from a distance, they have actually been seen inspecting these two new features up close. Maybe we'll see a couple more block themes next winter.

While it's nearly impossible to drive down a street or avenue in town without seeing Christmas lights, it's great to hear the sound of busy cash registers in our local stores.

Christmas shopping actually tops off a very busy year for the merchants. Especially those who participated in the chamber's 20-week new-car giveaway promotion and such events as Discount Days and Moonlight Madness.

It used to be that Wednesday was by far the busiest day of the week in town with the farmer's market and Sekura's auction.

This is a credit to the chamber and merchants who, despite their rural town image, have taken a giant stride toward establishing Drayton Valley as the place to shop.

And, if you're from out of town, take a couple of hours and tour the Christmas lights. It's certainly worth the extra time.

From all of us... a very merry Christmas

The curtain is quickly coming down on another year.

Our annual year-end edition will be published Wednesday, Dec. 28, one day later than usual due to the Boxing Day holiday.

It's an issue filled with news and sports highlights from the past year. That is a challenge in itself, as it has been a very hectic 12 months.

Frankly Speaking

By Frank Ryan

This year, as in the past, we continue to add new features to the year-end issue, as it has been one our readers often look for and keep as a reminder of the year gone by.

Like many businesses in Drayton Valley, it has been another good year for The Western Review. And for that, we thank our many advertisers for their continued support and our readers who receive our paper through the mail or purchase it over the counter every week.

Lynard Publishers, owners of The Western Review, has demonstrated their faith in the local economy with the addition of new computers. This will streamline our operation in a number of areas.

Our editorial staff will also increase in January with the addition of another reporter.

Personally, it was another year of suffering through my migraine headaches that just seem to come and go as they please. However, I must admit they haven't been as regular of late. Maybe that's a healthy sign.

We've also experienced a number of staff changes but, despite the turnover, the dedication of our present staff is what's mainly responsible for the product we turn out each and every week.

An example of that dedication was demonstrated during the recent flu bug that hit the area, when many of them came to work while they could have easily stayed home.

From all of us at The Western Review, a Very Merry Christmas.

Candidates prepare for election

A total of 18 candidates have put their names in the ring for the six seats available on the Twin Rivers school division board of trustees.

Elections will take place Jan. 11 in all five wards of the new division. The most hotly-contested race is in Ward 4, situated in the northeast, where five people are hoping to serve as the area's school-board representative.

Bruce Cropley, Evelyn Haight, Delores Olson, Ursula Springer and Mae Tryon are running in that ward.

In Drayton Valley, former Parkland board of education chairman Vi Helm is vying with Tom Hutton and Nancy Jacobs for the two seats available in Ward 1.

MD of Brazeau Reeve Henry Rondeau is seeking the nod in Ward 2 along with three other candidates: Jo-Anne Schultz, Colleen Andersen and Colene Davie.

Francis Ekstrom, Virginia Huber, Lynn Oberle and Carolyn Strand are running in Ward 5, located in the southeast portion of the school division.

Three of the five members of the advisory board to official trustee Rene Marrinier have decided to try for a term on the actual board - Rondeau in Ward 2, Helm in Ward 1 and Strand in Ward 3.

A notable exception is Cecil Dawkins, a former Anglican minister who served on both Leduc and Parkland county boards of education.

Marrinier's position expires once the board of trustees has been elected.

Returning officer Earl Briscoe says the large number of candidates is an "expression of the interest" surrounding the formation of the new school division.

He said an advance poll will take place Jan. 7 at both the Twin Rivers administration complex (the former Pembina Resources building on Industrial Road) and at a yet undetermined location in Breton.

The Twin Rivers school division has coterminous boundaries with the MD of Brazeau but is entirely independent from the rural municipality.

A bright Christmas

This house on Snowman Lane, located on 43 St., is one of 12 lit for the festive season. The color and Christmas music, supplied by several houses, makes it a perfect location for an evening stroll.

Wallet returned via post office

Dear Editor,

I wish to send a bouquet to Canada Post.

Recently my son lost his wallet in Edmonton. Several days later, a brown envelope arrived in my mail from Canada Post addressed to him. Inside was my son's wallet, all cards and identification intact with a note reading "Found loose in the mail."

Someone had found the wallet, presumably put it in the mail box and some kind postal worker had mailed it to us, no charge.

We are grateful and appreciate the kindness. Gestures like this at such a busy time for everyone restores one's faith in humanity, doesn't it? Merry Christmas!

Kjorlien acclaimed new school trustee

Tim L. Kjorlien has won by acclamation a seat on the Drayton Valley separate school board.

Kjorlien was declared the new trustee by returning officer Earl Briscoe last Wednesday after Kjorlien was the only candidate to file his nomination papers for the byelection by the noon deadline.

The byelection was to have been held Jan. 11.

The new trustee will sit on the board for the remainder of the term, which expires in October 1989.

Kjorlien replaces Paul Duckett, the board's former chairman who was transferred to Calgary earlier this year.

The new chairman is Jonn Anderson, who was elected to the position at the board's organizational meeting in October.

Secretary-treasurer Joyce Murray said Anderson's election was a milestone of sorts for the local separate school system.

It marks the first time the district has been served by a female chairman, a female vice-chairman (Marilyn Buchan) and a female superintendent (Valerie Keates).

Monsour sees return

Grant Monsour will be returning as chamber of commerce president if no directors volunteer for the position.

Monsour said last week he intends to serve a second consecutive year in the position if there are no other nominations at the Jan. 16 director's meeting.

But he added a second term as chamber leader won't be without changes.

Strengthening the role of committees will be one alteration that should prevent the president's job from becoming as "overwhelming" as previous years, noted the Esso Chemical employee.

Monsour said he will be relying on the committees to run their own projects and will also "tap the membership more heavily."

Serving consecutive terms is nothing new to chamber presidents, with Chad Nichols and Marty Prentice both staying longer at the helm than first planned.

Monsour said that no directors have yet come forward announcing an intention to run for the presidency.

Holiday soldiers

Three youngsters from the Lutheran Church Kindergarten don cardboard helmets as they prepare to entertain their parents with songs and skits. The kindergarten held its annual Christmas party last week. Santa Claus was the event's most popular guest.

Christmas lights target of thieves

Some people are unfortunately taking the fun out of Christmas.

Several homes in the Hillcrest area (west of the Dodson mall) have reported Christmas lights stolen from their yard displays.

Cpl. Tom Turner says the RCMP have received a number of reports.

Up until this year, the theft of Christmas tree lights hadn't been a problem in town.

Anyone seeing lights being taken from a display are asked to call the RCMP.

MD continues FCSS funding

Fears that the Family and Community Support Services (FCSS) that offers numerous programs in Breton are over.

The Municipal District of Brazeau who will be responsible for services in the Breton area as of Jan. 1 has received confirmation that funding for continuation of the FCSS programs will continue.

Word on funding for the programs came from health minister Nancy Betkowski.

The province will fund $23,336 and the MD will add another $5,834. The funding agreement is for the initial three months of 1989 to match the government fiscal year.

Three programs – play schools, home help service and the homemaker services – will be offered on an interim basis.

The MD will also look into providing any current Care Line and Life Line support systems.

A review of the entire system will be held early in the new year.

Julie Andrew has been appointed interim acting FCSS director. If needed, part-time assistance can be authorized.

Care Line clients are required to push check-in buttons on their machines in the morning and evening. If they do not check in, a signal sounds at the Care Line base at Extendicare nursing home in Leduc. Staff at the base then try to call the client. If there is no response, sponsors in the community are notified to check on the person.

If help is required, the client can also push a button on the device worn around the neck.

Cocaine trafficking leads to jail term

A 32-year-old Drayton Valley man has been handed an 18-month jail term for trafficking in cocaine.

Hubert Morrison pleaded guilty to the charge last Thursday in Drayton Valley Provincial Court.

RCMP recovered 25.5 grams of cocaine in his residence.

Chief superintendent visits town

The RCMP's number two man in the province made a half-day visit to the local detachment Dec. 9.

Chief Superintendent Les Holmes spent the morning in Drayton Valley as part of a plan to familiarize himself with detachments in the region.

Holmes is in charge of criminal investigations in Alberta. The last time such a high-ranking officer visited town was December 1985 - the grand opening of the RCMP's office building on Industrial Road.

Holmes was accompanied by Inspector George Rechner, the officer in charge of Stony Plain subdivision, which includes Drayton Valley.

Drayton Valley Cpl. Tom Turner said the visit included a tour of the detachment and a brief talk to officers on the future direction of the force.

Holmes told local officers the possibility exists for "an additional 80 positions" opening up in the province, said Turner.

This marks a turnaround for the provincial arm of the national police force, which has seen its numbers drop by about 140 in recent years, he added.

In an ironic twist, Holmes' long career on the force included a stint in Nakusp, B.C., where he was the lone constable stationed with Turner's father, the two-man detachment's corporal.

The visit concluded with lunch with Mayor Bob Mayhew, Turner and Staff Sgt. Jim Humphrey.

Turner leaves Jan. 20

Cpl. Tom Turner, a long-time member of the Drayton Valley RCMP detachment, will be moving to Redwater Jan. 20.

Turner was named Redwater's detachment commander last July 20, but has been delayed in his move because of a lack of a buyer for his house.

He said the lack of a commander at Redwater requires him to transfer there next month, regardless of the status of his Drayton Valley residence.

The transfer includes a promotion to the rank of sargeant.

Const. Dave Caporale will be promoted to Turner's position effective Jan. 20.

Santas Anonymous worthy of Dickens

By Belinda Atkinson

Santas Anonymous has become an established tradition for hundreds of local residents - givers and receivers alike.

As many as 160 recipients have relied on the organization's food, clothing and toy donations to make it through the holidays.

That, in itself, is a Christmas story as heartwarming as any Charles Dickens could conjure.

But the local group's origination is an even warmer story about an individual who recognized a need and a community that generously responded.

It was 12 Christmases ago that Linda Thompson visited friends in the Legion.

"A four-year-old girl was running around saying she wanted a tricycle for Christmas," said Thompson.

Her parents said they couldn't afford the trike, a comment which started a chain of ideas, and 12 years of giving.

Thompson went to the Edson Health Unit in Drayton Valley and got the names of families and individuals who were in the same circumstance.

"I ran around to local businesses and got some money," she said.

The next year, Thompson and her six sons sought money, clothing, food and toys from local businesses and service clubs and were able to help 50 local families.

They did not, however, seek any advice or help from the well-established Santas Anonymous program in Edmonton. The charity would be strictly local.

Thompson praises the local businesses, service clubs, schools and private individuals who have made Santas Anonymous feasible.

"I have people coming up to me on the street saying they want to help," she said.

Some volunteers choose to pack hampers, others prefer to solicit donations but, according to Danny Thompson, an original volunteer, the most rewarding experience is delivering the hamper.

"I like to see people's faces," he said.

He and his brother, Murray, were overcome one year by a little boy's response.

The boy asked his parents if Murray was Jesus Christ. The brothers heard the comment and were completely overcome.

"He cried," said Danny. "He just melted."

"You can see the appreciation in their eyes. It's part of Christmas now," he said.

Danny said people have received hampers, turned their lives around, and, the following year, donated items to Santas Anonymous.

"That shows how much they really appreciate it," he said.

The program will help approximately 100 families this year.

And those families will help hundreds of donors and volunteers discover the true meaning of Christmas.

Linda Thompson and son Danny have turned Santas Anonymous into a community tradition.

A young wrestler pushes to break free while the other takes every second as an opportunity to weaken his opponent.

Local wrestlers tourney champs

Frank Maddock high left five visiting schools in the dust Dec. 14 at the first-ever wrestling competition held in Drayton Valley.

More than 60 wrestlers representing Whitecourt, Niton, Onoway, Devon and Drayton Valley squared off but the hosts led the procession to a secure win.

The tournament champs scored 62 points, far ahead of Niton which took second with a 44-point score.

Onoway took third in high school wrestling with 25 points; Whitecourt was fourth with 24 points; and Devon came in last with 22 points.

Frank Maddock wrestlers Trevor Fedorus and Dwayne Barth led the way with firsts in their weight categories.

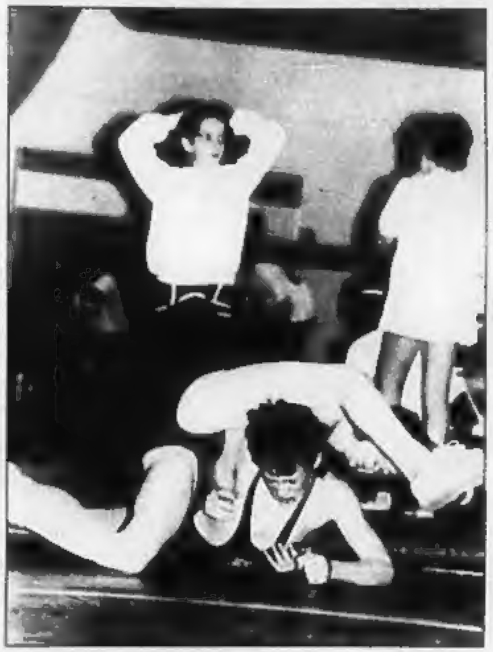
Locals Bob Ewert, Blair Disney and Joe Hutzal took seconds and John Jones and Jason Johannesson took thirds.

Local junior high school wrestlers also made a good showing with one first place, two seconds and two thirds.

Rob Parrey beat Whitecourt in the 40 kg. weight category to become H.W. Pickup's only first place finisher.

Duncan Conrad and Trent Williamson were close behind with seconds in the 53-kg and 60-kg weight catagories, respectively.

H.W. Pickup competitors Mike Newman and Chris Scholpp took thirds.



The lower wrestler was no match for his opponent who led the fight from beginning to end.

Tax notice a shock to local golf club

The municipal district has rejected an $11,820 special grant request in lieu of taxes from the Drayton Valley Golf Club.

The club had asked the MD for a grant to covertheir 1987 and 1988 taxes.

Although the MD rejected the request, it was suggested the golf club apply for a CRC grant.

"I prefer to go that route instead of the out right grant," Reeve Henry Rondeau stated at last week's meeting.

Councillor Bob Booth said he had a lot of trouble with the request. "Setting a precident is what worries me. We have to be fair," he stated.

"It's a little scary when we hit and miss," Booth added.

Golf club president Vi Helm, in a letter to council, said the tax notice of $11,820.71 came as a complete shock to the executive.

She went on to say, that upon investigation, the golf club found the executive had been trying to have the County of Parkland waive or reduce the 1987 taxes. In the transition between presidents the tax notice had been overlooked.

Helm's letter also pointed out the 575-member club was in a tough financial situation.

They are paying $6,000 a month on interest alone and have set aside enough money to make this payment for each month until May of 1989 when their membership fees come in. At that time the club will start making payments on the principal.

Rangers lose B final

The Pile Base Rangers pee wee hockey team came out on the losing end of a 12-2 score in the B final the Lacombe tournament on the weekend.

The Rangers lost the final to opponents Westlock Krusaders, which scored six times in the opening frame.

Trevor Depagie and Michael Neuman provided the scoring for the local squad. Bryson Kuzek had two assists.

The Rangers had dumped a Cnator team 12-2 to begin the tourney.

Local sharpshooters included Kuzek with four goals, Depagie with a hat trick, Travis Brigley, Robin Smashnuk with two goals, Glen Hutchinson and Ian Cathrea.

In the second game of the tourney, the Rangers lost a close one to the host-team Lacombe.

Scoring for the Rangers in the 5-4 loss were Cathrea, Greg Thompson, Depagie and Trent Williams.

Earlier in regular league action, the Rangers trounced Alix 8-2.

Cory Woods (two goals), Kuzek, Clayton Lindsay (two goals), Williams, Thompson and Brigley provided the scoring.

The pee wee team then lost to Rocky Mountain House 7-5.

Depagie picked up two goals in a losing cause, while Smashnuk, Kuzek and Williams collected singles.

After the fall

Ted Bashaw, a 10-year heavy equipment operator, plows away snow on the hospital road the morning after a major snowfall last week.

Lariettes win two

The Nelson Lariettes clobbered the Alder Flats Alley Cats 6-1 in one of three recent girls' hockey games.

Terri Kwiatkowsky (two goals), Mandy Nelson, Kerry Baumann, Joanne Fedorus and Nicki Baumann were the Lariettes snipers.

Later, on Dec. 10 in Whitecourt, the girls team lost 5-4 in overtime to the Whitecourt Stars. Kelly Baumann (two), Rachelle Bills and Helen Christeas provided the scoring.

On Dec. 11, the Lariettes rebounded by beating the Mayerthorpe Mojos 4-3.

Terri Kwiatkowsky scored a hat trick in that game, with Helen Christeas collecting a single.

MD request turned down

The MD's request to the Department of Municpal Affairs to either waive or reduce the annexation costs has been turned down.

As a result the MD has forwarded $28,200 which will cover their annexation application for Alder Flats and Moon Lake.

Annual bird count on

The annual Christmas bird counts are underway and run until Jan. 3.

At least 27 centres across Alberta will be out counting birds this Christmas.

Canada boasts a long history of Christmas bird counts. Just 33 years after Confederation in 1900, the first Christmas bird counts took place in Toronto and Scotch Lake, New Brunswick. Now, nearly 200 counts take place across Canada over the Christmas season.

The Christmas bird count requires each counting group to fan out from a central point in a circle 24 kilometre in diameter, and record species and individual birds sighted in the next 24 hours.

In 1985, the counting groups recorded 632 species in the U.S. and Canada and 630 species in Mexico, Central America and northern South America. They also counted 74,169,620 individual birds which is a tiny fraction of the estimated 100 billion birds in the world.

Those wishing to take part in the 1988 count should contact the count organizer in their area. If you live in the Drayton Valley area contact Alan Hingston at 459-6389 or Rainer Ebel at 444-4486 in Wabamun.

Turn your lights on tonight

Make sure your Christmas lights are on tonight (Tuesday).

Judges will be looking for the best of the residential (both in and out of town) and business Christmas displays.

This could be one of the most difficult years the judges have faced due to the excellent displays.

The senior citizens' third annual Christmas light-up tour was held last night.

Stocking up on food a Christmas tradition

If sugarplums are dancing through your head, chances are you're in a local grocery store.

And it's not just sugarplums: multi-colored fruit gells, mint juleps, fancy crackers, dried fruit trays, sweet pickles, 20 lb. turkeys ...the list goes on.

IGA and Block's Food Store have found that food is as much a part of Christmas as Santa Claus.

"There are a lot of foods that only sell during the holidays," said IGA manager Shirley Hood.

"Mincemeat doesn't really sell during the year. It just sits on the shelves," she said. "At Christmas time I'd say we sell 80 per cent more."

Add to that 40 per cent more candy, 20 per cent more pop and chips and it's obvious how people celebrate the holiday.

"People start buying around Grey Cup and it continues right up until Christmas," said Mohammed Hamdon, assistant manager of Block's.

Both managers have also noticed Christmas-buying trends over the last few years.

"Some years people buy nothing but turkeys, the next year it's hams," he said. "I think families alternate from year to year."

And it seems the art of home-made Christmas goodies is quickly dying out.

"More and more (people) are buying cakes and puddings already made," said Hamdon.

"We sell a lot of tart shells," said Hood. "People aren't into making their own shells anymore."

Neither manager would disclose the increase in sales over the holiday. But they did admit food is an essential part of most people's Christmas celebrations.

"Anyone walking in to the store can tell we're busy," said Hamdon.

$83,000 damage in fires

Sixteen fires were reported in the MD during the months of July, August, September and October.

This compared with 14 in Drayton Valley.

The 16 fires accounted for approximately $83,000 in damages according to a report presented to last week's MD meeting by Fire Chief Sheldon Fuson.

MD to look into landfill sites

The municipal district plans to take a close look at the land fill operations at Lindale and Breton in the new year.

Both landfill sites which are open two days a week will be the responsibility of the MD at the end of the month.

'We want to let people know we're here'

Martina Wollin

The Drayton Valley Big Brothers/Sisters organization has hired an executive director as part of a major step toward increasing its public visibility.

Martina Wollin, a former child welfare worker based in Wetaskiwin, has been the group's first paid employee since starting work Nov. 7.

Wollin says the job is something she's yearned for since arriving in Drayton Valley a year-and-a-half ago.

"I thought it would be a job I'd enjoy," she says. "It's exactly what I've been looking for."

While living in Wetaskiwin, Wollin obtained wide experience in everything "from child protection to adoption."

Wollin, a graduate of Mount Royal College in Calgary, was seeking a job that suitably combined two important ingredients: a part-time position in the field of social work that would not interfere with the raising of three young children.

She says she found it with Big Brothers/Sisters, an organization she believes has a strong role to play in Drayton Valley.

"Being in a two-parent family is tough enough," asserts Wollin. "For single parents, it's a terrific program for them to turn to."

Since its formation in town a year-and-a-half ago, Big Brothers/Sisters has had difficulty obtaining volunteers to coordinate its committees or sit on its board of directors.

As an example, Wollin pointed out that she'd like to see the screening and matching committee double in size from its current complement of three members.

"(The committee) is a good cross-section - a social worker, a businessman, and RCMP officer.

"That's a good variety - we'd like even more, though."

Moreover, the organization currently has a waiting list of three "littles" and is in dire need of Big Brothers.

"This is typical of all Big Brother organizations," says Wollin. "They are always recruiting and they usually have a waiting list of some kind."

She adds that a clear objective for the new year is to "process any of the littles that we can ...and focus on recruiting."

Yet another goal is to establish what will be an on-going, high-profile fund-raising event that residents eventually learn to instantly connect with Big Brothers/Sisters.

"That's what we're hoping for," Wollin points out. "We can be - and we will be - a very real, visible part of the community.

"We want to let the people know we're here."

Send Ng back to States ASAP

Guest editorial

An Edmonton extradition judge has ruled that Charles Ng be sent back to the U.S. on 19 of 25 charges against him, stemming from a string of gruesome sex torture killings in California in 1984-85. Although Canada's justice department cannot extradite Ng until court appeals are complete, the federal government should deal with the matter as expeditiously as possible.

Canadians refuse to have their country considered a safe harbor for fugitives of justice and there is growing public pressure on the government to make as swift a determination as possible so Ng's guilt or innocence can be adjudicated in California.

It could take five years for the appeal process to be complete - six months at the earliest. Canadians have already spent too much time and money looking out for Ng's rights and, following the ruling favoring extradition, it should not take long for other judges to deal with the matter.

An accelerated ruling from the appeal courts would tell other fugitives they are unwelcome in Canada. We will allow them to only briefly pollute our lives with their presence before they are dealt with and sent back in shackles to stand trial for crimes committed elsewhere.

Authority turns down request

By Steve Potter
Grant MacEwan Community College

The Parkland Ambulance Authority has denied county commissioner Jim Simpson's request for service to the west end of the County of [redacted].

"It is the board's wish at this time to forgo any consideration of advancing our services," PAA administrator Carl Stewart stated in a letter discussed at county council's Dec. 1 meeting.

There are many undermined factors from providing the requested service, she said.

"Provincial standing on legislation is the major factor that has the board concerned," her letter indicated.

"Probably what (the PAA) is referring to is the provincial rates," said Simpson. The authority probably takes the position that expansion would cost too much money, he added.

Stewart didn't rule out further discussion of the request, however. She invited the county to discuss the specifics of the deal with the authority if councillors want the decision reconsidered.

Simpson said the west end of the the County of Parkland is now being serviced by the Drayton Valley Ambulance Authority.

"That's the way it appears it will be going in the future," Simpson said.

The county is currently negotiating a new agreement with Drayton Valley to include Entwistle, Evansburg and Wildwood in the authority's jurisdiction.

After the agreement is finalized, the DVAA will probably be given a new name, Simpson added.

MD to help with taxes

The new municipal district has agreed to pay one third of the taxes for the Breton elevator.

The Village of Breton will also be asked to contribute one third toward the $6,800 tax bill. Both the County of Leduc and Wetaskiwin will be asked to pay one sixth of the total.

The decision by the MD came on the heels of a letter from the Alberta Wheat Pool asking that the property taxes be waived for one year.

The letter also addressed the concerns being expressed over the Breton elevator becoming a 'satellite' operation.

"In respect to these questions, we feel there has been some misunderstanding of the status of a satellite elevator. It is one that would be operated on an 'as-required' basis which would be dependent on the level of business. This could range anywhere from full time, if justified, to any other combination of part time as needed. This measure is designed to attempt to lower costs and reduce the loss at Breton and still provide service," J.W. Madill explained in his two-page letter to the MD.

Working mothers are best clients

It's shaping up to be yet another banner Christmas season for Drayton Valley's bakers.

Bakers shops are currently filled with the usual aroma of fresh made pastries and finely crafted layer cakes but the December rush has kept the creative juices flowing.

It's a business that constantly demands maintaining a fine balance between traditional fare and the latest in festive treats.

"We're busy, but we always seem to be busy," declares June Hesselbarth of Drayton Bakery.

She says her bakery is currently pouring out the customary favorites - Christmas cookies, gingerbread men and fruitcakes.

But Hesselbarth adds that one of their little-known specialties - a recipe for Stollen German Christmas cake - is growing in popularity.

With a season wrapped in tradition, it comes as no surprise Drayton Bakery has its share of regular Christmas customers.

"We have one who will come every year and order five-dozen mince tarts," Hesselbarth says.

June Hesselbarth prepares special German cake.

Anita Romanchuk, assistant manager of Block's bake shop, reports the usual goodies are selling well.

Fruitcakes, shortbread cookies and special items - such as the Chelsey (a honey glazed assortment of cinnamon buns topped with walnuts) - are all reaching their peak in popularity.

She says the two weeks before Christmas is a period when consumers are increasingly anxious to snap up the baked goods.

"Especially anything filled with cinnamon," points out Romanchuk.

The bakers say their product sells all year round, but added that the changing times have had a positive effect on demand.

"The working mother is our best client," admits Ken MacKenzie, owner of Mary's Bakery. "She bakes some, but not necessarily all (of her Christmas needs)."

He says the younger generation is also attracted to his shop because they never learned how to bake.

As far as the holiday season is concerned, Mackenzie notes the traditional items - shortbread cookies, cakes, tarts, gingerbread and Christmas puddings - never seem to run out of customers.

"Advance bookings are nice, though," he stresses. "Because there's no possible way of knowing what 10,000 people like at Christmas time."

Town offices on the move

The town offices are expected to move into their new building (the old arena) during the first two weeks of January.

The fire department is scheduled to relocate in the north end of the building two weeks later.

The library, the other partner in the multi-purpose building is in the process of moving.

No challenge left, market manager retires

Last Wednesday was a big day for the manager of the farmer's market in Drayton Valley.

Of course, Wednesday is always a big day for Lynn Merschel with all the organizing, regulating and planning to be [illegible]

Lynn Merschel

It was bigger than that.

Last Wednesday Merschel retired as the weekly market's organizer after six-and-a-half years.

"There wasn't any challenge left in it for me," said the hot dynamo who couldn't stand still.

Merschel recognized a need for reorganizing when she first took the position.

"I tried to set up some new rules and regulations, get them more clarified than they were," she said.

Merschel accomplished her task, while continuing her involvements with the Order of the Royal Purple.

On top of that, she and husband, Rudi, were busy making and selling signs for their company, Woodcrafted Custom Signs.

"I'm an active person," she said.

During her time as manager, the farmer's market expanded from an average 30 tables to 55 and moved from the Elks Hall to the Derrick Mall.

"It really grown," she said. "It's just about double in size."

But Merschel feels her work is done with the market and looking forward to accomplishing a few things she's been too busy to do.

"I'm going to get some of my housework done," she says as a top priority.

Merschel is still very attached to the market and says she'll miss everyone she's worked beside for six-and-a-half years.

"They're such down to earth people," she says.

She says she'll still set up an occasional booth but the details will be passed on to someone chosen by the market's sponsor, the Agricultural Society.

"Generally, I'm going to relax for a while and think about what I'm going to do next," she said.

Chamber planning '89 budget

It's budget planning time once again for the directors of the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce.

The directors [illegible] organizational meeting last week, the first meeting since the election of a new executive in November.

First vice-president Grant Monsour said the meeting was pretty straightforward.

Directors were allocated to different committees, each of which are now responsible for preparing their budgets for the coming year, said Monsour.

He added that a request from The Western Review to have a reporter sit in on the meetings was voted down.

"It was felt that having a media person there would stifle the conversation," said Monsour, who noted minutes from each meeting will be made available to the newspaper.

A safe Christmas

Const Yves Robitaille gives Olga Mulyk a rundown on the operation of a police breathalyser. The RCMP display was part of an AADAC booth at the farmer's market last week which stressed common sense at Christmas time, including non-alcoholic drinks and not drinking and driving

Dieters should depend on fruit

The Diet Centre has an answer for all those dieters out there who dread Christmas temptations.

Apples," says Diet Centre owner Mary Poloway.

She says an apple or orange can help dieters resist gooey Christmas treats and avoid holiday weight gain.

That will keep your blood sugar up so you don't have the craving for sweets," she explained.

She said Christmas is an extremely difficult time for dieters, especially those who cook the Christmas dinner and take on the task of baking cakes and cookies.

That's difficult because you want to taste things," she said.

She said apples, being high in fibre, will fill the cook up so he or she can leave the batter in the bowl and the stuffing in the stove.

Poloway has another trick to avoid weight gain from alcohol and other high-calorie Christmas drinks.

"Wine spritzers are probably the easiest on the diet," Poloway said.

"I tell dieters to take their favorite drink and keep adding diet pop or mineral water to it."

She explained that people want to have something in their hands and diluted drinks will keep them happy for a long time.

"And if they have a real sweet tooth well, they know the consequences," she said.

Nations celebrate the season

(NC)—It's pretty difficult to imagine a Christmas without Santa Claus or a Christmas tree, but in many parts of the world the appearance of Santa would puzzle people and a tree would be out of keeping with the Christmas spirit.

Roses Inc. representing Canada's Rose Growers, devised a special quiz to test your knowledge on Christmas customs around the world. Read on and see how many correct answers you can score.

1) There is a country where kids don't know about Santa Claus. On Christmas Eve they wait for an old woman on a broomstick to give them presents. What is she called and from what country does she come?

2) In Belgium and the Netherlands, people would gasp if they saw Santa Claus on a sleigh pulled by eight reindeers. How does St. Nicholas travel about in these countries?

3) In another country people would shudder if someone brought an evergreen tree into the house on Christmas. Instead of the tree, wild flowers are used as seasonal decorations. Why, and in what country?

4) Christmas can be a solemn holiday as well as a joyful one, particularly for adults. Italy and Spain are two countries where some grownups don't think singing joyous Christmas carols is the only way to celebrate the holiday. How do they celebrate?

5) For centuries it has been a custom in Canada to have a symbol or token of Christmas spotlighted in a place of honor in your home. What are some of those symbols and where are they placed?

6) The custom of giving gifts for Christmas is believed to have grown from a different holiday that was celebrated before Christ was born. What holiday and in what country did this celebration take place?

7) All of us know that a Christmas tree would not be decorated properly without twinkling lights. In one country however, flowers are used to decorate the tree. What is the traditional flower of this country and how is it used to decorate the tree and around the home?

8) The generous spirit of Christmas is reflected in one country by Christmas dinner. Custom in this country dictates that you set one more place at the dinner table than the number of guests who are coming to dine. That way, even an unexpected guest will find a place and a meal for himself. In what country does this tradition exist?

9) Where was the first Christmas tree used?

These Christmas puzzlers all have relatively easy answers so read on and see how well you did.

1) Children from all around the world love the gifts and the special plans associated with Christmas. In every nation children celebrate the holidays with traditional customs. Canadian children leave milk and cookies by the fire for Santa Claus. Dutch children in Holland fill their wooden shoes with roses so as to please the old woman called "LaBefana." "LaBefana" makes her Christmas rides on a broomstick, leaving presents for good children and ashes in the shoes of bad ones.

2) In Belgium and the Netherlands, St. Nicholas rides a white horse instead of travelling with reindeer and a sleigh.

3) In Sweden, wild flowers were flowers grown in someone's garden. The most popular and colorful floral choice of most Swedes were roses. Oftentimes irises and fresh holly were also used. Picking fresh roses and other flowers this December may be somewhat difficult, depending on where you live and the climate. By making a personal visit to your neighborhood florist you can choose from a wide variety of fresh roses and seasonal flowers and plants. Whether you live in a small apartment or a large home your florist can design an arrangement of roses and holiday greenery to fit your living room, kitchen, bedroom or entry hallway. Remember it is best to order early for top quality blooms at a reasonable price.

4) The most Catholics in Italy and Spain often observe a day long fast which begins at sunset on December 23.

5) Many families have a beloved Madonna and Child: a print, a painting or perhaps an old icon or triptych they bring out during the Christmas season. It's a happy custom that is in the true meaning of Christmas. A fitting way to accent such a Madonna and give it the prominence it deserves in your home is with an arrangement of fresh roses, long needled pine or holly. To ensure a truly beautiful effect, take the Madonna to your florist and let him design an arrangement that will best complement it. He will know just the right number and color of roses fitting the piece.

6) The custom of giving gifts for Christmas dates back to the ancient Roman Mid-Winter Festival.

7) In the country of Austria fresh roses placed in water tubes were used to decorate the tree. Roses when placed on the tree were felt to symbolize the birth of life and the rewards of a new year. Roses in several vibrant colors and the special water tubes you need to decorate your tree can be purchased at your local florist. Calling one to two weeks in advance of when you need them insures you the best quality blooms available.

8) The country where they place an extra plate at the Christmas table for unexpected guests is Poland.

9) There are numerous stories explaining the origin of the first Christmas tree, but the following is the most popular.

In the Eighth century St. Boniface, then a missionary in Germany, was attempting to stamp out the pagan custom of making human sacrifices to oak trees. At yuletime he led his followers to an evergreen tree and told them it pointed straight up to the Christ Child. "Take this tree into your homes as a sign of your new worship," he told them. "Celebrate God's power no more with shameful rites, but in the sanctity of your home with laughter and love."

No matter what the tradition or country, Christmas is always a time to reflect and remember good days gone by and the promise of a bright future.

Christmas fire safety tips

Fire safety with fireplaces

- Creosote or tar in the chimney can catch fire when a large hot fire is burning. Have the chimney checked and cleaned regularly.

It is best to use small amounts of wood at frequent intervals. This reduces creosote buildup.

- Do not burn scrap paper, gift wrap or Christmas trees in the fireplace. The intense heat from these fires can ignite the creosote.

- Always use a screen around the fireplace to prevent escape of hot embers and sparks.

Never leave children unattended near the fireplace.

Keep combustibles such as decorations, furniture and paper away from the fireplace.

- Never use gasoline or other flammable liquids to light or relight a fire. The vapors will explode.

- Dispose of fireplace ashes in a metal container and store outside the house. Make sure the fire is completely out before going to bed or leaving the house.

In an emergency, use plenty of water or sand to extinguish flames. A suitable fire extinguisher may also be used. If the fire gets out of control evacuate the household and call the fire department from a neighbor's house.

Have a fire safe holiday!

French recognized in new Alta. policy

A new language policy that will provide opportunities for all Alberta students to be proficient in English while recognizing French language rights and the diverse language needs of multicultural Alberta, has been announced by Jim Dinning, minister of education.

"This new policy is a good starting point. It looks to the future. It's based on a vision of the province which acknowledges our traditions, while preparing young Albertans for tomorrow's challenges," says Dinning.

Objectives of the policy include improving English language skills, providing additional opportunities for students for whom English is a second language, recognizing the rights of some Alberta students to be educated in French, continuing to provide students the opportunity to learn French, continuing to recognize the interests of students to learn a variety of heritage languages including Ukrainian, Cree and German, and to provide the language opportunities that may enable young Albertans to capitalize on emerging cultural and trade links such as our special relationships in Pacific Rim countries.

The language education policy for Alberta takes a clear stand on language education involving individual students, teachers, school boards and the community as a whole. The policy recognizes French language guarantees in the Charter of Rights and Freedoms, and the new School Act. It outlines how those rights are to be met. In addition, it provides for a variety of language needs.

The policy will be implemented in the 1989-90 school year.

Replace bulbs quickly

When a bulb on a Christmas tree light string, or electrically-lit decoration, burns out, replace the bulb as soon as possible (allow it to cool off and unplug the light string first)

If you don't the other bulbs may burn at a higher than normal temperature, and the empty socket on the string could pose a potential shock hazard, especially for young, curious children

Make certain you choose a replacement bulb with the correct wattage and/or voltage. The light string package (which should be retained after purchase) contains a marking to tell consumers which bulbs to use

Since 1986, it has been mandatory for manufacturers to attach 'caution' labels to all midget-base Christmas tree light strings and units. The labels tell the consumer what voltage to look for when purchasing replacement bulbs

The label reads, in part: Caution: avoid overheating, replace burnt-out lamps promptly

Look for this label before you look for a replacement bulb.

Haul rates to continue - gov't

The Alberta government will continue to require minimum haul rates to be paid by construction workers to protect the interests of Alberta's independent gravel truckers.

Speaking at a news conference, Transportation Minister Al Adair said that in every instance where the department has received evidence of contractors failing to comply with truck haul contract specifications, money has been held back from the contractor until every trucker involved received full payment. "In a number of instances, this has amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars," he added.

Replying to criticism the government is not concerned with the small independent gravel trucker, Adair noted that Alberta is one of "very few jurisdictions in North America" providing specific price and work distribution to the gravel trucking industry. "If we did not care, we would have neither minimum haul rates nor any problems with suggestions of kickbacks."

'You can only go so many thousand miles,' - Hines

By Belinda Atkinson

Clayton Hines tests his skill against the rankest buckin' bronc on earth and the fans go wild.

They drink it all in: the danger, the skill, the old west.

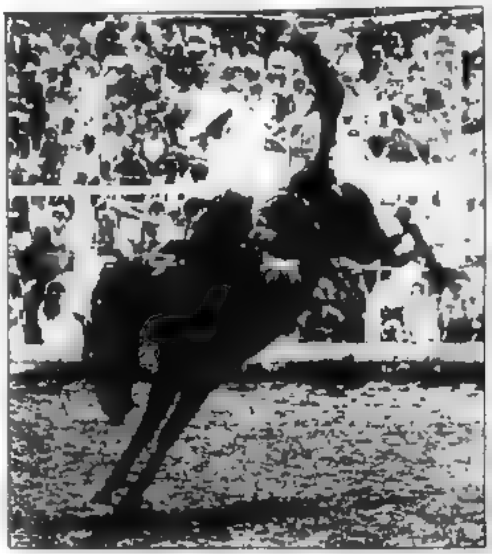
When the glory's over, the fans go home exhausted and Hines prepares for an all night drive to somewhere else.

Hines has repeated this ritual as many as 135 times in a single year. Fans and friends think his life is glamorous. But they see the eight-second performance, not the remaining 23 hours and 52 seconds in a day.

They don't want to hear about taking turns driving all night and drinking coffee to stay awake, Hines said after placing third at the 1988 Canadian Finals Rodeo.

Hines was expected to win. The two-time Canadian champ was ranked first among 10 top notch saddle bronc riders and had just finished the best season of his career.

He had the experience. Hines has competed in seven national finals and never placed worse than fourth.



Clayton Hines competes in an Innisfail rodeo in 1987.

Ups and downs when riding buckin' broncs'

The luck of the draw wasn't with him this time but he has to expect ups and downs when he's riding a buckin bronc.

"I had a lot of energy last year. I had things to look forward to: the National Finals Rodeo, the Calgary Stampede.

"When I didn't do as well as I expected I lost my drive," he said.

If Hines had been an amateur, he could have drowned his sorrows at a good post-rodeo party and forgotten about competition until the next weekend.

Unfortunately, Hines had obligations. 20 rodeos spread over two countries, in the next 14 days.

"I found it hard to keep going," he said. "That's what creates retirement. You can only go so many thousands of miles."

This was not a new feeling for the local boy turned professional cowboy.

"In 1983 I was burnt out but kept going and ended up bankrupt," he said.

"I couldn't do anything. I dug a hole so deep I couldn't see out of it."

Hines has had his downs, which is a statement in itself considering he's among the most successful.

Exhaustion and debt are typical of a sport that can only be compared to gambling.

When it's all over, a few make enough money to retire. The majority spend their retirement money trying.

Hines took the next year off, rested and re-evaluated where he was going.

"...Bothers me if I mess up...I don't have that many horses left in me..."

"I sat there in 1984 thinking where I could be. Houston is nice in January," he said. "So is Florida."

I said, 'This is not for me. I'm not spending another year here.'"

Hines returned to the circuit, at a slower pace, and strived to make each rodeo count.

"Before, I thought if I don't ride good today...well...I have years left. Now it bothers me if I mess up because I don't have that many horses left in me."

Hines slower pace still left a calendar stained blue with hundreds of destinations across Canada and the United States.

"That's the only way I can keep track of him," says Susan, his wife.

"Sometimes I have to tell him where he is," she jokes.

Susan admits she wishes her husband were home more. In fact, Clayton saw his daughter, Amber, 10 days in the first three months of her life.

But she knows rodeos are in his blood and she's adamant that he'll quit when 'he' is ready.

"I'd never push him into quitting. Then he'd be saying, 'If you hadn't made me quit I might.'

Susan guesses Clayton will be a professional saddle bronc rider for another five years.

She also knows the unglamorous side of the sport and chooses a life behind the proverbial spotlight.

"Every year I get this idea that I should go on the road with him. So we drive all night," she says, "and I can't sleep in cars so I end up driving while Clayton sleeps."

After her annual gaunt across a province or two, Susan is content to stay home for another year.

Clayton doesn't see himself competing in five years.

"I think five years is a little long. It's more like two years," he says.

"I'm going to go to the Canadian finals again. That's an attainable goal. And I'm going to go to the rodeos I can afford," he said.

In between, he'll work as a pressure welder, a trade his father, a former rodeo cowboy, made him take up.

He'll also pass on his skill at occasional rodeo schools.

"I really enjoy teaching," he says. "It makes me really excited when they (students) do something I've been trying to teach them."

And if a young, starry-eyed bronc rider comes to Clayton with visions of wealth and fame on the rodeo circuit, he'll give the boy a lesson that took him years to learn.

"I say, 'Do you want to get rich or do you want to see the world?'"

Clayton, Susan and Amber relax in their home near Rocky Rapids.

Clayton holds four-month-old daughter, Amber.

Innovative art

Prices range from $127 to $665 for the nouveau art, which is stated to be marketed for the first time in the United States next month.

Drinking, driving attitudes changing

"Have another one." "Let's have one for the road." Another round for everyone."

A few years ago, hosts were not very concerned about how much people drank, but whether guests were having a good time. Little thought was given to driving home after drinking too much. But times have changed!

Today, individuals who drink alcoholic beverages and drive afterwards are considered menaces on the highway and very foolish indeed. People are still having fun, but many are drinking less, preferring not to drink at all, or merely selecting non-alcoholic alternatives.

Society is no longer willing to tolerate the drunk driver. There are stronger laws, stricter enforcement, less tolerance and more peer pressure encouraging everyone not to drink and drive.

A recent idea that has become increasingly popular in bars, restaurants and at parties everywhere is to designate one person to handle the transportation needs of the others when alcoholic beverages are served. This individual is the "designated driver" for the group.

In some establishments, soft drinks are provided to this person without charge. At house parties, some hosts give small prizes or other incentives to encourage the non-drinking driver.

This trend is growing, but more can be done. You can help!

Request that your local bars, restaurants and party venues support a designated driver program.

- Make certain designated driver arrangements are made at every party you host.

- Respect the designated driver's decision. Don't try to convince that person to drink any alcohol.

There will always be other parties - but each of us has only one life. The designated driver approach is one way to help reduce the number of accidents caused by drunk drivers.

Holiday CheckStop campaigns effective

It won't be a merry Christmas this year for some Alberta families. This is supposed to be a festive season, but there is nothing festive about it when a loved one is killed in an alcohol related collision.

The RCMP and police agencies throughout the province have started their holiday CheckStop campaigns. From the period 1980 to 1986 there were 1,100 fatalities resulting from drinking drivers, and 20,000 injury collisions that involved the use of alcohol. The year round CheckStop program is aimed at reducing deaths and injuries caused by drinking drivers in Alberta.

The results of the CheckStop program speak for themselves. Over 19,000 Albertans were charged with impaired driving related offences as a result of the program, and other related police initiatives, in 1987. More than 3,700 of these offenders were incarcerated in Alberta's correctional facilities. Currently, there are 35,000 Albertans who have had their licences suspended as a result of impaired driving convictions.

Impaired driving is a serious social problem which requires the immediate attention and full cooperation of government, private agencies, the corporate sector and all Albertans.

Don't tolerate impaired driving. There's a lot you can do to keep these people off the road. Take action as an individual, and as a member of your community. Impaired driving is a crime. Plain and simple.

A vehicle can become a weapon in the hands of a drunken driver. Celebrating Christmas responsibly can save countless lives.

Funnell concert Dec. 23

By Shelli Carson

Olympic gold medalist Linda Moore spent two days in Breton last weekend. The Vancouver curler skipped the ladies' Olympic team to victory at the 1988 Calgary Winter Games.

Her visit was sponsored by MacLeods Ltd. and MacLeods, Breton. Moore and members of the Breton curling club played a four-end game against members of the Drayton Valley curling club. She also gave a curling clinic the following day.

Funnell Society will be holding their annual Christmas concert Dec. 23 at 8 p.m. Anyone interested in performing is asked to call Janet at 696-2483 or Margaret at 696-2366.

There were 19 people in attendance and five tables played at the Dec. 2 card party at New Moose Hill.

The next card party will be Friday, Dec. 16. The Christmas concert will be Dec. 31. Tickets are available at Petro-Can.

The community extends sympathy to the family and friends of Vera Simmers. Funeral services were held Saturday, Dec. 3 at the Breton Community Services.

Gray wins second place

Tom Gray, a teacher at Breton elementary has won second prize in the third annual International ideas contest sponsored by Sunburst Software.

The purpose of the contest was to encourage creative and effective teaching using the products.

Gray was the only Albertan to win a prize in the contest and one of three Canadians (the other two were from B.C.). The remaining 14 prize winners were from the United States.

Gray's prize consists of up to $375 worth of computer software from Sunburst.

Playschool receives grant

The Buck Creek Playschool Association has received some much needed financial help from the MD.

Council authorized a grant of $240 last week to help the playschool with some of their operating costs for the 1988-89 year.

Similar funding had been provided by the County of Leduc but that stopped when the new MD was formed.

Make tobogganing safe sport

You may be planning to purchase a toboggan this winter. There are some important factors the Consumers Association of Canada recommend you take into account when buying one.

Struggling up the hill - light sleds are easier to pull up snowy slopes. Choose one with a good tow rope.

Steering - a toboggan that is easier to steer is safer and handles better on the hill.

Brakes - with them you shouldn't have to use your body to stop. That can be dangerous - not to mention hard on snowpants and mittens.

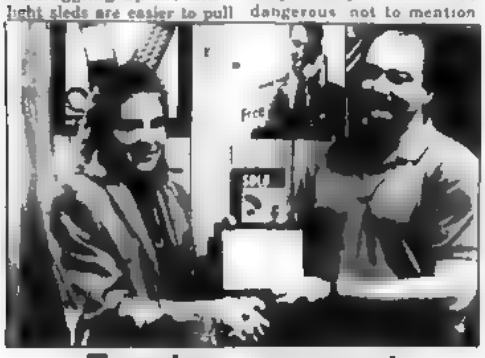
Handles - these will help you to steer and provide a place for hands to rest.

Size and fit - consider who will be using the sled. There is a considerable difference between one for a six-year old and one for adults.

Durability - steel toboggans can bend, thin plastic ones will crack. The most sturdy are the wooden ones.

REMEMBER, Each year, children and adults are injured on the slopes from toboggan accidents. Safe sliding requires keeping your eyes open and your hands and feet in the sled. Snowy jumps can mean hard landings. Climb the hill well away from other sliders. Make tobogganing a safe sport.

For further information about purchasing this item, phone CAC Alberta at 420 0747.



Employee award

AGT employee Lynn Mattoon, from Drayton Valley, was honored by the company recently as its Employee of the Month for the north region. The award was based on his exceptional service to a customer - Pelican Spruce Mills - after he completed a major job there using new technology in the allotted two days. Above, Mattoon is presented with the award by Darlene Bielech, sales rep for the region.

Decorations aren't edible

Make sure decorations don't wind up in children's mouths. They should be flame-resistant, non-combustible and should not conduct electricity.

Do not use the decoration angel hair together with spray-on snow - the combination is highly combustible, according to the Canada Safety Council.

Teach children not to eat any part of Christmas plants such as holly, Jerusalem cherry, mistletoe and poinsettia, they can cause intestinal irritation and vomiting.

Merry Christmas

In appreciation of your valued support, we wish you all a happy holiday

Time to be assured of God's love

By Rev. John Martens
DV Pentecostal Assembly

Fear, it can really be a problem for many people these days.

Whether it's fear of an earthquake or of a global nuclear war, it seems that around us are fears that make life just a little bit uncomfortable.

Daily we read about, hear of, or see another disaster that has affected the lives of those somewhere in our world, and it is becoming harder to insulate ourselves from the pain of these events.

I find the mental images of grief stricken mothers and fathers sifting through endless piles of rubble in a desperate search for missing loved ones, of angry young children in the Middle East hurling stones and fire bombs at the Israeli troops are hard to set aside before a night's sleep. I'm sure the world's struggles and fears are not unlike the troubles faced in the days of the Roman Empire when the birth of Christ was announced.

Three times in the opening chapters of Luke's gospel account an angel comes with comfort from the lips of God. Each time God's messenger begins with the assuring words, "Do not be afraid."

To Zechariah came the assurance that God had heard his prayer both for the child and for the deliverance of his people.

To Mary the angel brought news of God's favor, that she was to bear a child who would be the Son of God, the Messiah.

To the shepherds the words meant God was providing a saviour and there was reason for great rejoicing.

In a lot of ways things haven't really changed in the last 2,000 years. Many, like Zechariah, who faithfully serve God year after year continue to wait on Him for answers to prayer. For these the Christmas season is a time to be assured of God's love and concern for those who are faithful to Him. God hears the petitions of His people and does answer their prayer.

Others not unlike the young Mary may hear God's spirit calling them to serve Him in many different ways. Where there is a life surrendered to Jesus, there is no need to fear where God's hand leads.

Ultimately, the message "Do not be afraid" speaks of the absolute solution to life's many fears that is offered in Jesus. I challenge you to join with the shepherds who rushed to find the Christ child.

It's not enough to be told not to be afraid - in Jesus the fears of life lose their grip in the face of great joy. Jesus Himself is God's word of peace to us. In Him we do not need to fear anything.

Not for a million dollars

A news reporter watched a missionary nurse tenderly cleansing the gangrenous open sores of a street person found near death.

"I wouldn't do that for a million dollars," he said.

Without looking up from her ministry of love, she said, "Neither would I." Love does freely what money cannot buy.

The language of love speaks when neither rules nor laws nor pressures of money can prompt the action. God did not have to give his son Jesus Christ. No one forced Jesus to go all the way to the cross. He went because He was fluent in the many languages of love.

Real gift is gift of ourselves

By Father Martin Carroll
St. Anthony Church

In these days before Christmas the stores remain open for extended hours to encourage us to buy gifts for family and friends.

The prophet Isaiah reminds us of God's great gift to us:

"For there is a child born for us, a son given to us and dominion is laid on his shoulders, and this is the name they give him. Wonder-Counsellor, Mighty-God, Eternal-Father, Prince of Peace. Wide is his dominion in a peace that has no end."

God gave Himself to us in the person of Jesus. At this time of the year the tradition of giving gifts has grown, but God shows us that real giving is the gift of ourselves.

May God's gift of his Son Jesus to us to inspire us to give the gift of ourselves to those we love, and may His peace reign in all our hearts at this blessed season.

Share God's dream for us

By Rev. Wes Herbert
DV United Church

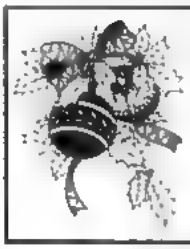
Christmas is a time when we all dream, young and old alike, of toys and sleds, of a white Christmas, of loving and sharing, of being touched and filled with the enabling, renewing spirit of God.

This is what Christmas is all about. On a holy and silent night Love came down, inviting us to share in God's dream for us. And we hold a holy dream because God has first planted the seed of divine hope within our hearts.

"Hold fast to your dreams
For if dreams die
Life is a broken winged bird
That cannot fly.
Hold fast to your dreams
for when dreams go,
Life is a barren field
Frozen with snow"
(L. Hughes)

Then dare to dream great things with God knowing of God's dream fulfilled on that night when shepherds watched their flocks, and wise men followed a star. For love came down at Christmas and we are cradled in Divine arms to be reborn into the presence of God's care and love.

May God touch and bless you in this season of singing and laughter and holy excitement as we praise the Lord, the Man of Galilee.



Merry Christmas

In Memorium

COMBS, Floyd

In loving memory of our husband, dad and grandpa who passed away Dec. 18, 1977.

God gave us the strength to face it,
And courage to bear the blow.
It breaks our hearts to lose you,
No one will ever know.

It's lonely here without you,
We miss you more each day.
For life is not the same for us,
Since you have gone away.

We think of you in silence,
Often speak your name.
But all that's left to answer
Is your picture in a frame.

Just a prayer from us who love you,
A precious memory kind and true.
In our hearts you will live forever,
Because we thought the world of you.

We will always remember the way you looked,
And the way you walked and smiled,
The many things you did for us,
Are with us all the while.

Just as you were, you will always be,
Loved and cherished in our memory.
"Love you and miss you, 'til we meet again."

Always in our thoughts and sadly missed by his wife Mary, his children and grandchildren.

JOESTING, Martin

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather who passed away Dec. 23, 1985.

The depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.

Time rolls on but memories last,
Someone remembers,
Someone cares,
Your name is whispered
In our prayers.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by wife Dolly, son Ernie, Lyn and Kelvin, Bev and Russ

The Great Race

By Frank Pavick
Canada's Sport Poet

The GREAT RACE is coming, it's time for 'THE run,'
The longest and fastest GREAT RACE ever done,
One man against time with the whole world at stake,
Thank goodness he knows every shortcut to take.
He has his own methods like hollers and hoots,
Sure one of a kind in those big running boots,
He doesn't appear in great shape to take flight,
But covers the world, every house in one night.
Preparing, repairing and carrying gear,
And then, in the GREATEST run man can recall,
He's off on his once a year race of them all.
He doesn't wear track shoes like races we know,
His choice is high boots for the dirt, sand and snow.
He'll win at the finish, don't worry, because,
The big runner himself, is the GREAT...SANTA CLAUS.

Berrymoor Association holding New Year's dance

By Mae Tryon

The community extends its sympathy to the family on the death Dec. 4 of Eugene Docken at the age of 80 years.

Eugene and Grace Docken raised their family in the Lindale area. He is survived by his wife, Grace; sons Garry, Brian, Randy and Reddy; and daughters Shirley, Sharon, Marion, Marlyene and Carol and their families.

Funeral services were held Friday, Dec. 9 at the Lindale Hall.

The Lindale Hall Association will be holding a New Year's eve dance Dec. 31, with the hot supper at 7 p.m. Advance tickets only, 542-3318, 542-2434 or 542-2806.

Merry Christmas and a very happy New Year to everyone.

Grading contract on hold for now

The MD of Brazeau council wants a little time before making any major decisions on a new grading contract.

Instead of awarding a 12-month contract, council decided last Monday to wait until the two new councillors are in place.

Richard Tatro, director of public works, has been authorized to work out a contract for the month of January.

Christmas concerts being held this week

An 'old fashioned Christmas concert' will take place Dec. 21 at 7 p.m. in the Rec Plex. Students should arrive at the school by 6:45 p.m.

The school encourages children to support Santas Anonymous rather than exchanging gifts. Anyone interested in donating a gift or food item may do so at the Christmas concert.

All classes will participate in a recreational swim Dec. 22. There will be no charge.

Evergreen

Classes will have an all-day Christmas swim session Dec. 20.

Everyone is welcome to the school's Christmas concert Dec. 22 presented at 10:30 a.m. and again at 12:45 p.m. Parents will receive a newsletter indicating what time they should go.

Frank Maddock

A school dance will be held Dec. 22 from 7:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. Parents and chaperones are always welcome.

The classes are having a competition to raise the most food and clothing items for Santas Anonymous.

Block 1, English 10 class will put on a pot-luck lunch Dec. 23.

School Notebook

St. Anthony

Everyone is invited to a Christmas concert Dec. 22 at 7 p.m. in the school gym. Grades 5 to 9 will perform in this, the second of two concerts.

Dec. 23 will be the last day of regular classes.

Classes will resume Jan. 9.

Tomahawk

Students will travel to Drayton Valley Dec. 23 for an afternoon of swimming.

Dec. 23 is the last day of regular classes until Jan. 9.

The children will perform at the Tomahawk firemens' Christmas concert Dec. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the school gym. Everyone is welcome.

Hot lunch day is Dec. 22.

Breton elementary

Everyone is invited to a Christmas concert Dec. 21 at 1 p.m. in the school gym.

The kindergarten bought a computer station with money raised by the parents. A bottle drive will take place after Christmas to raise funds for a color monitor and additional software.

There will be two more hot lunches in the new year.

The last day of regular classes is Dec. 23.

School will resume Jan. 9.

Breton high

Everyone is invited to a Christmas concert Dec. 22 in the school gym. Grade 12 awards will also be given at the event.

A school dance will take place Dec. 23, which is also the last day of regular classes until Jan. 9.
